Welcome the Visitors Next Tuesday!

Every Citizen Should Be Able At The Depot And Extend Hospitality To The Strangers Who Will Visit Mirror

The members of the excursion party that will be in Mirror next Tuesday, August 4th, are from points all over the United States and Canada, and this occasion presents an opportunity that does not come very often, to show visitors the picturesqueness of Mirror, Buffalo Lake and the surrounding country, and to demonstrate the fertility of the soil in this neighborhood. Let them, one and all, return to their respective homes with a pleasant remembrance of Mirror's hospitality and its citizens. Give them the glad hand.

Several papers have already given notice that while accepting subscriptions, they reserve the right to close up at any time realizing that they are now carrying the last straw. No further regulation was ever enacted than this that puts the same load on the four and eight page weekly as on the twenty-four and thirty-six page city publication, which is newspaper, magazine and fashion sheet combined.

BIG EXCURSION MAY BRING 1200

The citizens of Mirror generally are uniting in their efforts to give the Locomotive Firemen and Engineers a rousing reception when they visit Mirror next Tuesday, August 4th.

The Canadian Grand Union meeting is being held in Calgary on August 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th, and it is expected that fully 2500 delegates will be in attendance during these days. An excursion is being run over the C.P.R. from Calgary to Field, B.C., and then another one from Calgary to Mirror. On the latter it is expected that from 800 to 1500 excursionists will be on board the train, which will consist of a double-header and sixteen coaches. The train will leave Calgary at 7 a.m., reaching Mirror about 12, and leaving here at 8 p.m. on the return trip.

W. Crane, chairman, and E. M. Piper, vice-chairman of the General Arrangement Committee in Calgary, were in Mirror last week and talked over the question of feeding and entertaining the visitors while here. The matter was again dealt with at a well-attended meeting of the citizens held at the Hall on Friday evening of last week. The following committee (with power to appoint sub-committees) was appointed to attend to the arrangements: E. E. Hoagie, chairman; Geo. Robinson, L. L. Cassidy, J. MacLean, and W. J. Good. K. B. Iverson was added later by the committee.

A baseball match between Huxley and Mirror will be played at 2:30 p.m., after which a boxing contest will be pulled off for a prize of $15. An effort is being made to get some of the best riders in the district to compete. A prize of $10 will be given to the owner of any horse that cannot be ridden; also $5 to the best cowboy outfit on the grounds.

The Mirror Brass Band will furnish the music.

Increase Effects The Country Weeklies

The weekly newspapers, particularly the country weekly, published in the smaller towns and villages received a poke in the solar plexus which means the full count and out for a considerable number, unless the long suffering public comes generously forward to raise the deficit.

The blow aimed at the big fellow ever reached at the little fellow is wondering if there is any chance of recovery, or whether it would not be wise on his part to quit the ring for good. Of the making of books there is no end, and the making of thorny paths for the struggling publisher of the

We have coal here, and gold has been found on several farms, so why not oil. Up-to-date we cannot report a strike, but having got a new firm put on plough, hopes to strike something shortly.

Haying is now the order of the day, and judging by the way grain is already turning, the hay season will have to be one continual hustle.

Never have we had finer looking crops than this year, and fair harvest weather now will insure a bumper yield here.

O. J. Sorum recently purchased a new power: M. O. Sorum also a mower and rake; and R. E. Fell invested in a new binder. These machines are all of the Massey Harris manufacture.

G. J. Estell we are informed is installing a Galloway Gas engine and crusher.

TOURING THE WORLD AFTER PICTURES, HE MEETS WITH STRANGE ADVENTURES

The Travelling Commercial Photographer Must Have an Outfit Like an Explorer, and be Ready to Grapple With All Manner of Conditions During His Travels.

An interesting chap is the knight of the camera. He has nerves of steel. He must, really, be composed of ninety per cent. of the fine gold courage alloyed with ten per cent. of the brass of audacity. Like the hero, the camera man must know his way. He must know how to get it. He must be at the right spot at the right time. "Time and tide wait for no man," and the camera man must be ready to grapple with the elements of nature, and the elements of man.

The "new knight" must often do the impossible. He must be a linguist, for he often travels strange lands. Travelling in the land of a civilization, he must know how to handle men. During an interesting fight, a race was held in the Valley. The big yacht was completely blown off the wind from his little twenty-foot sloop, and there he was becalmed under the very eye of the oncoming race. He was captured, and barely escaped with his life. On the next occasion his boat was crushed by the force of a diver whose armor had been pumped too full of air. He was rescued by a diver who was sent to the bottom of the sea in a small submarine. Once again he was rescued by a diver who was sent to the bottom of the sea in a small submarine.

A DREAM AND A LETTER.

Maybe Merely a Coincidence, Maybe a Spirit Message.

The following story of a dream was told to a correspondent by an acquaintance who is about as staid and unimaginative a man as one could meet.
He had a friend of whom he had lost sight of for some time. This friend committed suicide and one night, soon after he had done so, the unimaginative man dreamed that he was visiting the dead man's street after dark, and the ghost of the dead man appeared to him and requested him to follow it. He did so, and it led him to a house, the door of which was open, and then up some stairs to a room where there was a table on which lay a number of books, all of which were lying open.

The dead man had two a great reader, and therefore there was nothing unusual in the spectacle of a great many books in his room. The book turned out to be the "Life of Henry Labouchere," and he turned over a page of which he thought it might contain some news of him, and he remembered that the book became detained when he turned over two pages to mistake. When the pages were turned the book appeared to be happy.

The dreamer awoke and told his wife about it. When he went down to breakfast he found a letter lying on the table bearing the postmark of a town of which he had no knowledge other than its name. He had never before, nor, so far as he was aware, had the dead man, nor had he any friends or relatives in the town.
The only relative of the dead man of whom he had any knowledge lived in another city.

When he opened the envelope he found inside it a small photograph of the dead man, showing his eyes open.
There was not any letter inclosed with it, nor anything to denote by whom it had been sent, and to this day he does not know from whom he received it.

ONE OF IRVING'S POSES.

His Role of Defunct Candidate in Labouchere's Burial.

An amusing episode of the Middlesex elections of 1906 was the error that the supporters of Henry Labouchere made in taking Henry Irving for their defunct candidate. The story is told by Mr. Edgar Labouchere Thordell in his "Life of Henry Labouchere," as Mr.
Labouchere himself narrated it:

"I was the defeated candidate for Middsex. Those were the days of husband and election, disputes, and it was the fashion for each candidate to go down to Brentford in a carriage and to thank his supporters. On the morning of the day when I had to perform this function, Irving called upon me, and I invited him to accompany me. I drove, and I made an in-audible speech to a noisy mob, and we re-entered our carriage to return to London.

"In a large constituency the Middlesex Irving felt it his duty to assume an attitude of importance. He folded up his program, pressed his hat over his brow and was every inch the buffed politician, the defunct, and yet eternally resistant to the fate. In this character he was so impressive that the crowd came to the conclusion that he was the defunct candidate.

"No wonder, and so solemnly that it did he took that they were overcome with emotion and to show their sympathy they took the horse out of the carriage and dragged it back to London. When they left us I got up to thank them, but this did not save me the ridicule. "Poor fellow," I hear them say as they looked at Irving, "his defunct are too much for him!" and they pulled him up the back, shook hands with him and thanked him." of the pay office recently, "to have the estate of a man named Hoffman valued at $18,000,000, and we are repeatedly receiving inquiries—almost at every point—about it. It is the subject of the estate." Another estate with which the pay office has nothing to do is that of the great Sir Francis Drake.

In all there are $328 estates in chancery, but the value of the largest is not more than $7,000. And, so far from many millions, the payment of the supreme court of Judicature has only $1,250,000 in its hands awaiting claimants. A large proportion of this money, moreover, has been lying unclaimed since the early part of the eighteenth century.

If you think you are entitled to any of this money you should first study the official list at the law courts and then make a formal claim. But, it may be said, it very rarely happens that such applications prove successful—London Answers.

PASSING OF ST. HELENA.

Made Famous by Napoleon, the Island Appears to Be Doomed.

When the great French emperor died in exile in 1821 there was probably a wild belief in his Chateau heart that the island which had been the scene of his imprisonment might be wiped from the face of the earth.

Whether or not such a curse was ever cast upon the island, it is certain that St. Helena is doomed if not to extirpation at least to become an uninhabitable rock. With the advent of steam navigation the island ceased to be a regular port of call, so that its always scanty exports dwindled almost to the vanishing point; plagues of insects destroyed its vegetation; rats, brought thither by foreign vessels, multiplied and overran its soil until the government was compelled to offer a bounty of a penny for every rodent exterminated.
Then the English garrison, which had been practically the sole source of income to the inhabitants, was withdrawn, and the needs of the natives became desperate.

Then, as if this series of misfortunes was not enough, the terrible-chance tropical and malarious conditions—ravaged the island and will unless controlled reduce the city of St. Helena to a ruin of sand—New York Independent.

Possibilities Overlooked.

He was a suburban garden faddist, who innocently bore all his expenses by asking them around his 2 by 4 estate. Just now it was not the office. He showed him his three rose trees, his pocket shrubbery, his half hot fountain jet and his little basin and pair of goldfish. He showed him his summer house, which would accommodate two people at the same time.

"Never know what you can do with a bit of ground till you try," said the best gentlemanly.

"Quite so—quite so," returned the other. "But why don't you take a strip of the flower-bed—say about six inches wider—turf it over and make it into a blooming golf links?"—New York Post.

Wagner and Beer.

Signer Angelini Glushtinski, who traveled specially from Rome to Bal-tina in order to be present at the first performance of "Parafra" July 29 1882, gave an account of his impressions in the Russian Contemporary.
He was surprised at seeing Wagner drive up to the theater "in a carriage which also conveyed a single barrel of beer perched conspicuously on the box seat by the side of the driver. This was carried into the theater, promisely with a view to slaking the thirst aroused in Wagner and his friends by the performance of his masterpiece." —London Chronicle.

Two queer Epitaphs.

Near Salisbury plain, in England, is the grave of one William Bottom. His epitaph runs:
Oh, sun, moon, stars and ye celestial bodies, Are grave, then, devoted into But-tom's?

Which is not as clever as this epitaph which a famous New York dentist composed for himself:

Stranger, approach this grave with fitting words
Here lies a dentist—filling man cavity Missing Opportunities.
"I have no patient with a man who make the same mistake," said Armed, rather severely, in speaking of an unfortunate friend.

"Neither have I," agreed his wife "when there are so many other nice chances to make."

Missed His Chance.

Frank-Yon Kelly's boss under bonds to keep the peace for some time Miss I wish I'd known I've missed several fine chances to call him a liar and a scoundrel.

Believe in Your Boy

Is there a boy problem in your home? If so, you are looking for its solution. It is to be found in a little sentence of four words: Believe in your boy. It is a boy in a boy's life when he leaves a parent's eye. I have no confidence in you and yet parents—well-meaning parents, too—may these very words to their boys, and their parents say them as plainly as by actions as if they had spoken. A boy's daily chores include looking after the barnyard, milking the cow and caring for the family horse. On several occasions the facet that supplied the tank with drinking water was found empty and the barnyard flooded. Of course, the boy was charged with carelessness. He stoutly denied having left the faucet open, but he was threatened with punishment next time such trouble occurred, and he missed it only by chance. The cook happened to look out of the kitchen window just in time to see the old boy home turn the faucet with his nose. He had probably learned the trick by accident and was smart enough to draw his drinking water fresh.

Many a boy has been punished for just such acts which he never committed, so he slow to judge the boy. The normal boy is quick to respond to kindness and just as quick to be hardened by unjust judgments of those in authority. More than one boy came safely through the stormy years of his teens not because of, but in spite of the system of discipline to which he was subjected in the home.

Miller's Worm Powder does not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels unsuitable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powder will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

Wise Mexican Mule

"The mule in Mexico is a wise animal," says a man who has studied the animal in that country. "A Mexican mule will do just so much work and not a bit more. The riding mule, for instance, is fully aware of the distance to be ridden, and he is supposed to refuse to travel in the presence of one traveling day and all the sharp sticks or goads, or dramatic on earth won't get him to do a bit more than what he knows to be the correct distance. The Mexicans have got a peculiar saying in connection with this characteristic of the Mexican mule. You ask a Mexican how far it is by subliminal to such and such a point, and he will tell you, 'It is not far, but three days if you are in a hurry,' the Mexican will reply.

This means that if you should ask more of your mule than you should ask of him, the mule will be able to make the trip in two days. But if you attempt to drive the brute he'll soldier on you, and in consequence the journey will take you three days."

A Bit of Barbecue

"The late Dr. Morgan Dray," said a clergyman of New York, "had a dot of lightning grave subjects with little humorous addies. Once I heard him addressing a graduating class at a medical school. He began in this way:

"Physiologists tell us, gentlemen, that the older a man grows the smaller his brain becomes. This explains why the old man knows nothing and the young one everything."

"Say, old man, you're looking a hundred per cent better than you did a year ago."

"All paid now, eh?"

"No; they have grown so small that I know there is no way of paying my mind."

"I hear there is going to be a congressional inquiry into Backman's business."

"I had no idea he was so prosperous as that—Life."

Rapid Stars

Even astronomers are expressing astonishment at a speed record recently discovered among the stars. The Andromeda nebula has been found to be moving in the general direction of the earth at the rate of about 14,000,000 miles a day, or nearly 200 miles a second. This is vastly faster than the motion of the earth round the sun or of the sun in space. It will be some time before the nebula approaches very close to the earth, however. Observations of the nebula by telescopes and photographs do not show the slightest measurable trace of movement toward the earth, which indicates that it is so far away that travelling 14,000,000 miles a day is too slow to be apparent. The discovery that it is coming at this rate was made by a study of the spectrum of its light—Saturday Evening Post.

Says Education Is Not Progressive

In delivering the report on rural education in the province of Quebec at a meeting of the Canadian Association of Montreal and Ottawa, Rev. Dr. Lorne, moderator, Quebec city, said that many Protestant children in outlying districts were growing up without any education, while a number reached adult age without any education at all. Protestantism in the rural districts had decreased while Roman Catholicism had increased.

Everybody Uses Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a Spring Tonic

We have on file thousands of letters telling of similar cures by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Skeptics are invited to write to Mrs. Jules Scarbo, Moultonette, Stormont Co., Ont., writes—

"I think it is my duty to write and let you know the great benefit I received from taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Early last fall I became greatly run down, could scarcely eat anything and could not sleep at night. The least sound would make me start and I was so nervous I could hardly bear to have anyone talk to me. I tried many medicines but none helped me and I was in this extremely nervous condition for five months."

"I read in the almanac about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and bought 3 boxes from Mr. Armstrong, druggist at Millie Roches. Before completing the first box I felt the benefit and now believe the cure to be thorough and complete. I am feeling fine and eat and sleep well, thanks to the wonderful good, accomplished by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I wish everybody troubled as I was knew of this great medicine, which is so quick in action and so permanent in results. It will always have my praise."

You can avoid the feelings of fatigue and depression which make spring so dreary by very many who are not in robust health. Sleeplessness, irritability, indigestion and headaches soon disappear when you increase the vitality of the mind and body by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.
